WHY?

The Signal is not a partisan paper. It is born of the people. I's editor wants what's best for all. No pie counter moves us. We are no office seeker and have no favors to ask, whether it be the election of Mr. Hughes or the re-election of President Wilson. But as an American citizen, deeply concerned in the welfare of the country, it is our desire to fairly and truthfully discuss the facts of the present campaign.

The Republicans were in power for forty years. Then why did the people put them out? There must be a reason for it and let us as fair minded men, seek to find the cause. Not in passion, but in sober, serious thought, let us search for the answer.

By reason of a long continued control, the Republican leaders had a fixed illusion that they were like the kind, "could do no wrong" that the people would permit them to do as they desire. Such leaders as Pratt and Quay, Penrose and Aldrich, Foraker and Depew, Reed and Cannon, men who served special interests and not the country at large; who played to the hand of Wall Street bankers; who heeded not the farmers, because they had no commercial credit; who paid no attention to the old, dilapidated, time worn and out-of-date nation at banking laws. Wall Street did not want them changed and hence the political guides touched them not. Every time an election would come the politicians the holders of office and the seekers thereof would raise the cry of the empty dinner pail, the withdrawing of the fire from every factory.

The bankers and special privileged men would flood the country with money to influence the voters with the result that the witch dogs of special interests would be restored to power. But the people arose four years ago. The cry of the empty dinner pail has no weight. The factory fires being drawn off the Democrats who had no terror. The American people have grown wise. They found that such alarms were used to serve the officer holders and office seekers. They even discovered the real source of the corrupting influence at the ballot box. As a result, the people decided to change and change they did. The Democrats have been in power four years and during that time they have enacted more progressive legislation on behalf of the men, women and children of this land than the Republicans did during the whole forty years of control. Where is the empty dinner pail of which you heard so much? What factory has shut down because peace-loving Woodrow Wilson was elected President? The earnings of the laboring men of America for the last three and one-half years exceed by three billions dollars their earning under the four years of Taft's administration. The savings of the people, deposited in the banks throughout the country, amount to six billion dollars more than was deposited during the term of President Taft. Labor was never so richly compensated; homes were never so happy. Our people are wading "chin deep" in prosperity. The politicians will baroque the voters. Special interests will put in her cunning and corrupting hand and with big corporations will float money like water to affect the result but the sturdy, self owning American voter will do his own thinking and vote for Woodrow Wilson and continue peace and prosperity.

Who Will Be Our Next President?

"Let us have Peace."

"HUGHES or Wilson—asking more courteously—Chief Justice Hughes or Woodrow Wilson, our present chief magistrate, will guide the ship of State four years, from March 4, 1917?"

It is in the interest of contest and fair play that we put these lines.

Amid the quadrennial wrangles that afflict Americans, there is much vituperation and fault finding that, judging from the speeches of our political orators, our officers high and low are vulgar black guards unfit for their official positions.

The people of the United States who do their own thinking, and don't shape their political judgment by campaign literature and harangues of political speakers are able to judge, for themselves the fitness of candidates for office.

So, it behooves us to listen to calm, sound reasoning and courteous discussion of the questions at issue rather than appeal to prejudice and political bias.

The conservative, intelligent public have placed an estimate on Justice Hughes' moral and political worth and he stands high as an American citizen; as a lawyer of repute, as governor of the Empire State, he has a record of which he may be justly proud; but as a candidate of a great party, proud of its past, we humbly beg to state, that he is lowering that record, by his style of fault-finding in the present campaign.

President Wilson also has made a record of which no American would be ashamed. He has been confronted by the most difficult world-wide problems the nation has ever seen. He has met them honestly and has undertaken to solve them with dignity, with patience and with due consideration for friends and foes.

Yet President Lincoln met a far more serious and momentous crisis in our domestic relations and who by his prudence and statesmanship saved the union, and built the great republican party.

Democrats and republicans alike, as a united people, place Abraham Lincoln on a pedestal of fame to which no president that has preceded him is entitled. His memory is cherished by our common country, as a hero, a statesman, and public servant, as no other American citizen has been or will be, in all probability. Republicans have reason to be proud of the treatment of great national issues, which from time to time have arisen and settled satisfactorily to the people.

The great issue of customs duties levied, to meet the financial needs of the nation, has been a question of supreme importance in the life of our republic. The difference of opinion arising as to "high" or "low" tariffs, is one of honest and sincere judgment as between the two great parties that have been in existence. The question of "protection" to American industries and to whom, and to what extent, is of vital importance. It is now, it has been all the time a vital question.

It involves the question of Capital and Labor—of capital arrayed against labor, considered in the abstract.

This being so, and human nature what it is, it follows that the representatives of both capital and labor have taken every advantage that politics can give; that State and national legislation could give to further the interests of each. Just here is the crux—the crucial test of the perpetuity of our form of government. When the enlightened, sane, and conservative, element, can come to the front, and eliminate some of our fostered political methods of buying, legislatures, electing senators and congressmen, we may hope to reach a point of fairness, as between capital and labor, that shall insure an equitable adjustment of the existing differences.

We believe a great step forward has been made in this direction. Corporations have been compelled by legislation and public sentiment to yield to Labor some of its dues that formerly was not recognized. We honestly and sincerely believe that, labor shall not be compelled to serve the public in any capacity more than one third of the twenty-four hours per day. We believe that a corporation has no moral right to demand longer days of service from their employees than the regular division of time, universally agreed upon, viz: Labor, one third, recreation and private affairs one third, and rest one third, leaving to the employee to decide how he shall use his recreation period.

He may choose to put it in an additional asset, in the employment of the corporation he serves. Leaving these mooted questions, of Tariff Reform, and the Labor problem to the intelligence of the American people, we return to the personal consideration of our candidates for the presidency.

We have already said that the public has placed a high estimate on the loyal qualifications of Justice Hughes, and so far as he has been tried, has proven himself to be a worthy public servant. This high minded man will not only admit the truth of it but will accord to our chief magistrate the same honors, with the additional fact of his three and one-half years service as chief magistrate. We need not enlarge on what we have already said on this phase of the subject.

We do not even argue that his policies and manner of conducting the affairs of State are the best possible that could have been devised. We doubt it every measure over which his duties gave him control have been adjusted to his entire satisfaction, and all will admit that, if he has made no mistake, if he has done everything in the best possible way, he is more than human and should be esteemed as a god. We leave those and all other questions arising as to his fitness to succeed himself, to the intelligence of the peace loving American citizens.

We desire to emphasize this phase of President Wilson's administration in that he has managed, so far, to keep the peace as between ourselves, and the other governments under the strained relations that have existed. Whether this peace has been maintained, with "honor" or dishonor, we leave to the same verdict of the American public and not to that class whose code of honor required it to send its adversaries to a bloody grave.

"THE OLD OAK TREE."

By MARTIN C. PERKINS.

In old Kentucky's Mountains grand,
Is a tree built straight and tall:
Of all the works of Nature's hand
This stands supreme to all.

Underneath this "Old Oak Tree" I've sat
And played the whole day long.
I've heard the Cardinal's merry chat
And heard his pleasant song.

I had a playmate by my side,
Whom I loved very dear:
The days did swiftly onward glide
I dreamed not Death was near.

But little play-mate is now dead
Under this Old Tree is buried
But he's in Heaven where 'tis said
Our Soul is never worried.

Oh have I longed in memory sweet
To be as in days of yore;
Play once more at The Old Oaks feet
With the one I'll see no more.

I am now riding on a train
That will take me back to see
My little play-mates grave again
Underneath the Old Oak Tree.

When once more I reach the place
All my burdens down I'll lay
Once more I'll smooth my weary face
And in "The Mountains" ever stay.

Where my little play-mates sleeping,
There's the spot I long to see.
There I'll die and end my weeping,
Rest beneath "The Old Oak Tree."

When beneath "That Tree" I'm lying
By the side of the one I love,
I trust my Soul will be flying
With Him in that Home above.

Shops Demand New Efficiency of Employees

No Room for Nervous, Worn Out Men and Women.

Efficiency is the watchword of modern industries. Practically all of the larger enterpriser are demanding that applicants pass a physical examination before they are admitted to employment. They are adopting the theory that without health a man is unable to give his employer the best that is in him. There is no place in the modern business for the nervous, lagged out, listless man or woman.

This is the age of speed; we haven't time to take care of ourselves. Those run-down men and women are not exactly sick, but just tired out, languid and overworked. Their business, their home, and their life suffer.

They need something to build them up, something to throw off these symptoms of a weakened, debilitated condition produced by mental or physical overwork, or by the abuse of a vital organ more often the stomach than any other.

Chemists and scientists have gone to endless pains to discover something that would combat this serious condition. It was left to Joseph Von Trimbach, the noted chemist and giver of health aids, to solve this perplexing problem, and he did. He has given the American public a vegetable preparation composed of herbs, roots, flowers and barks, which he has called Tanlac.

Since its introduction, a trifle over a year ago, men and women from the highest to the lowest walks of life, by the thousands everywhere, are testifying to the relief Tanlac has brought them.

Tanlac, the tonic, appetizer and invigorant, that builds new tissue, vivifies the blood, and acts so favorably on ailments of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes, has been met with favor wherever it has been introduced.

Tanlac is being introduced in Mt. Vernon at R. H. Miller, also at Central Drug Co., Livingston, and John Robins' Drug Store, Brodhead. V. M. Owens' store, Barr, Line Bros., Crab Orchard, S. E. Welch Berea; J. Reynolds and Son, Bee Lick, where the Tanlac man explains its merits.

Always think before you buy, but don't think too long.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good.

I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today."

"STAR BRAND SHOES are BETTER"

Sparks' World Famous Shows are billed to exhibit at Stanford Wed. Sept. 20 and from the newspaper reports preceding their exhibition will be worth going many miles to witness.

Among the many features the show carries is what is claimed to be the largest land animal on earth. It is an elephant said to be three inches taller than Jumbo and a half ton heavier.

Some idea of her immense size can be obtained when you consider that she is 11 feet, 7 inches tall and weighs over 5 tons. In other words she weighs as much as 10 ordinary horses.

Another extraordinary feature with the show is Capt. Wesley's troupe of educated Seals and Sea Lions. These interesting sea animals perform the most seemingly impossible feats; balancing chairs, umbrellas and whirling brands of fire while climbing ladders, walking tight ropes and riding the backs of galloping horses. This feature baffles description and must be seen to be appreciated.

Many other wonderful things are to be seen with this mammoth show, and the main performance beneath the big tents will present a number of the most marvelous foreign acts of the century.

The menagerie of wild animals carried with the show is complete in every detail, and contains rare and curious specimens of the earth's most interesting and curious animals.

A mile long street parade of dazzling splendor, beautiful women, and handsome horses, interspersed with three brass bands and a steam caliope will traverse the streets shortly before noon, and this feature alone will be worth going many miles to see.

Don't forget the date and the place of exhibition, Stanford, Wed. Sept. 20.

OUR BOONEWAY MAN In Winchester

All the big events came in a bunch last week. The Appalachian Good Roads convention representing nine States, speaking of Justice Charles Hughes and the roads were billed and pulled off at Lexington. The road people held a morning session Tuesday and adjourned in recognition of the Hughes date. Then the big gun was fired at Winchester Saturday.

The writer met a good number of his mountain friends at Lexington who came down to hear their candidate who spoke in Woodland Park to a large audience composed of citizens from all parts of the State.

At the other two days of the meeting the highway people had many eminent engineers and practical road builders present who read important papers or delivered excellent lectures on the absorbing topic of roads and their maintenance. A representative from the Agricultural and Road Departments were present from Washington City and explained the Federal aid plan for the building and maintenance of roads, and the manner in which States should apply for Federal aid.

Among important things were reports of progress or the three highways. C. C. Crab now State Road Inspector in the building of Rockcastle roads represented Boone Way and did the subject justice. In his remarks he gave due credit to Mt. Vernon for its great work in originating and pushing this great highway thru mountains, and mentioned in a very flattering manner the connection the writer had in the work which of course made us feel pretty good, thank you, especially when the members and audience did some cheering. But their call on the old Boone Way worker for a speech, put us up against it. He advised the audience that while he could do some writing, but it was beyond him to make an address and hoped that Mr. Crab's report and speech on the subject was sufficient to cover the case in hand.

The nine states belonging to the organization had representatives present.

The convention adjourned Tuesday afternoon and were guests of the Kentucky Race Association and took in the races.

Some of the boys brought away more money from the track than they carried to it. Others were not so fortunate.

In the language of write ups of county fairs: It the greatest meeting in the history of this road association, which has been in existence for past eight years.

On Wednesday the Hon. E. Ballock of Hanford, and the writer were taken out with a party in automobiles, over the various newly made asphalt roads including the Richmond (Dixie Highway) and the Paris (Jackson Highway) roads; also out to Elmeadorf farm, which consists of a boundary of 1,000 acres and on it located the most extensive dairy barns, said to be about the largest in the United States.

The first meetings of the association were held in the chapel of Kentucky University but the later ones took place in the ball room of the Phoenix Hotel. A number of the members including C. C. Crab and the writer were taken out in machines to the county crusher plant in west part of the city where they crash limestone and grind up Kentucky rock asphalt, the latter material being the same kind as that used in putting down the depot platform at Mt. Vernon. This material is being extensively used in many parts of our state and in other states. It is mined near Bowling Green, Ky., and costs about $2.00 per mile to place it on macadam to depth of 2 inches. Its lasting qualities and great smoothness recommends its use. It will be cheaper when a rail road is built to the mines.

Henry Roberts, of Bristol, Va. Tenn., Vice President of Boone Way, for those states was elected President of the Southern Appalachian Good Roads Association. C. C. Crab, of Eminence and James Maret, of Mt. Vernon, were elected Executive Committeemen for Kentucky.

Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas were accepted as members of the Association, making 13 states now belonging to this organization.

The writer met many old road friends from the various states, including several who had rendered much assistance in booming Boone Way.

The biggest hit in the map line was the one made by James Pinkerton and the writer. Its size is 5 by 7 feet showing Boone Way and all towns and cities along the route from Boone Park, N. C. via Mt. Vernon, to Louisville Kentucky, and from Mt. Vernon, to Chillicothe Ohio, with various loops; distances of 900 miles.

The map was hung in the lobby of the Phoenix Hotel during the meeting and attracted much attention. People from 30 states viewed it with interest. The crowds in front of the map at times became so great it was difficult to pass into and out of the front door.

The Democratic State Campaign opening and big barbecue at Winchester last Saturday was a huge success in every particular.

The writer was fortunate in getting near the speakers stand and heard the speeches of Vice President Marshall, Congressman Hardy of Texas and J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama. Believe me they were some speeches, which were cheered time and again by the thousands of admirers.

It is estimated that there was from 15,000 17,000 in attendance.

Owing to the admirable system of arrangements there was not a hitch or bobble. The thousands were fed old ham, barbecue mutton and beef, pickles bread on paper plates and last but not least, burgoo in tin cups with spoons to eat with. Every one was filled and there were some wagon loads left.

Three thousands gallons of ice water at twenty different points on the grounds, with hundreds of cups to drink from.

There were something like 2,000 automobiles on hands and not one bugged on the grounds. This rule was used to prevent accidents.

A hospital car with nurses and doctors were kept in readiness to look after the sick, but were not called upon, as no one in all the crowd needed them.

Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle were represented by F. L. Thompson, Sr. and Jr. J. B. Noe, Clyde Baker, Will Thompson, Robert McKenzie, S. C. Franklin and son Bernard, C. C. Williams. There may have been others whom the writer did not meet.

They were here from every county in the State.

To Col. John E. Garner, Winchester's G. O. M. is due much credit.

Left Leggedness

It is a familiar fact that a person lost in the woods wanders around in circles to the right. The reason is found in the demonstrated fact that the human race is right-handed and left-legged. That is the left leg is stronger than the right one; and the constant tendency because of the greater activity of the left leg and the longer stride taken with it, is to bear to the right. Locomotion is a continuous pedestrian match between the right leg and the left one, and the left is continually getting ahead.

It's just the way in money matters. Our existence is a constant battle between spending and saving, and our "spend-leg" seems the stoutest and is generally in the lead. To overcome this the wise ones are handicapping their "spending member" with a Saving Account and are steering a straight course out of the forest of debt—into the civilization of peace and plenty.

Cheap Transportation Has Built National Prosperity

This is a big American freight engine.
It is an achievement of AMERICAN INVENTIVE GENIUS.
It is built to HAUL LONG TRAINS loaded with the products of American industry from the mines, farms, mills and factories to the markets of the country, and to the seaboard for shipment across the seas.
In all the wonderful history of American industrial progress NO PIECE OF MACHINERY HAS PERFORMED SUCH SERVICE AS THE BIG FREIGHT LOCOMOTIVE.

Freight is carried on our railroads at the LOWEST RATES IN THE WORLD, while we pay our railroad workers the HIGHEST WAGES IN THE WORLD. A TON OF FREIGHT IN THE EAST IS CARRIED THREE MILES FOR THE COST OF A TWO-CENT POSTAGE STAMP.

Cheap transportation is one of the biggest builders of our prosperity. The big freight engine with its enormous tractive power, the big steel freight car with its great carrying capacity, and the heavy rails and rock-ballasted roadbed to support the weight of the great engines and heavy trains—these are the achievements of American industrial genius which have given us low freight rates and broad markets, and have enabled us to put our products in the markets of the world in competition with foreign manufacturers.

But now come well-meaning but short-sighted leaders of American railroad workers who say to the railroad managers:

"SHORTEN YOUR FREIGHT TRAINS so that the engines and trainmen can haul the tonnage faster over the roads, and so make as many miles pay in eight hours as they now do in ten hours."

To the State Legislatures these same spokesmen for the railroad workers say:

"Pass laws LIMITING THE LENGTH OF FREIGHT TRAINS—we oppose big tonnage trains."

To the Farmers, Manufacturers, and Merchants they say:

"With shorter freight trains railroads can move your products faster to the markets."

To the American Public that pays every dollar of the railroad bill (and 44 cents of every dollar paid for transportation is for wages), they say:

"All that the railroads have to do to meet our demands for higher wages is to shorten their trains, move the freight more rapidly and escape the penalty of overtime wages."

What would be the result of taking these leaders of the 350,000 train employees at their word—shorten freight trains so that they can be run at higher speed?

Increasing the number of trains to handle the same tonnage would call for more employees to do the same work, more tracks, larger yards and terminals, more supervision, and it is plain that there would be more congestion of traffic and greater hazards in train operation. Hundreds of millions a year would have to be spent by the railroads to increase their facilities and to operate the bigger plant.

IT WOULD BE ASKING TO USING HAND SHOVELS INSTEAD OF FIVE-TON STEAM DREDGES TO DIG A PANAMA CANAL.

American railroads have spent enormous amounts in reducing grades, cutting down mountains and filling up valleys; in increasing the hauling power of locomotives and the carrying capacity of cars; in putting down rock ballast and heavy rails—all for one purpose, to lower the cost of operation.

It is the public that has reaped the benefit—in better and cheaper railroad service.

If the railroads moved their tonnage in shorter trains at higher speeds, the public, it is seen, would have to shoulder a great burden in the increased cost of transportation.

Would the public get value received for its money?

Of the tonnage on the roads east of Chicago 60 per cent. consists of coal, coke, ores, stone and other mine products. To the public it is of no consequence whether this freight is a few hours longer on the road, so long as there is a continuous and regular stream of it coming to the market.

FOUR-FIFTHS OF ALL THE TONNAGE MOVING IN THE EAST IS MADE UP OF LOW GRADE, SLOW MOVING FREIGHT, CARRIED AT THE LOWEST RATES IN THE WORLD.

To abandon the big freight trains on American railroads in order to increase the speed at which the bulk of the traffic moves, and thereby enable the train employees to earn higher wages in shorter hours, would place a great burden on American industry without giving the public any tangible benefit.

LONG HOURS A RARITY.

Only One in Five Years Does Average Trainmen Exceed Legal Limit.

That long hours in train service have been reduced to a minimum is shown by a report issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Only one employee in five on the average last year was compelled to remain on duty more than sixteen hours during any one day in the whole year. Stated in another way, the chance of an engine driver or trainman remaining on duty beyond this prescribed limit was reduced to once in five years.

The total number of cases of excess service from all causes reported to the commission was only 61,247 during the year ending June 30, 1915, as compared with 27,459 in 1914 and 27,027 in 1913, and with rare exceptions these represented cases recognized as due to unavoidable causes.

Statistics on this subject are collected by the Interstate Commerce Commission under the national hours-of-service law. Every time a train is so delayed by a blizzard, washout or other cause that any part of the train crew is on duty longer than sixteen hours the railroad company must report the occurrence to the commission, giving the names of the individual employees concerned and a full statement of the cause for the excess service.

For several years the railroads and the Interstate Commerce Commission have been co-operating in efforts to prevent the keeping of employees on duty for long periods. The reduction of nearly 80 per cent. in such cases which has been brought about in three years shows that the working of men for long stretches of continuous service has practically disappeared except in rare cases of unavoidable delay.

DEMOCRACY'S BANNER DAY

Campaign Opening at Winchester Most Auspicious Event

Many Thousand People Listen To
Oratory And Enjoy Burgoo
And Barbecued Meats

The formal opening of the Democratic campaign at Winchester, Saturday, was as delightful as the occasion was auspicious. The sun never shone more brightly on the "Old Kentucky Home," the atmosphere was never more delicious and invigorating a warmer welcome was never extended than by the Democracy of the splendid county of Clark and every thing seemed to work together to make the event one of the never to be forgotten by the many thousands of enthusiastic men and women who attended. Every detail for the comfort and enjoyment of their guests had been carefully arranged and nothing left undone by the general chairman Judge John E. Garner, Judge John M. Stevenson, Senator Abe Rennie, Steve Vaughn, and the able and willing corps of assistants, while the people of town and county vied with each other in doing everything in their power to add to the delights of the day. The city had been decorated in gala attire and flags and bunting floated everywhere.

The fair grounds were selected for the place of speaking, and a shelter erected in front of the mammoth amphitheater for the speakers and hundreds of men of prominence. At 10:30 Judge Garner made a stirring and witty address of welcome, followed by Chairman J. Campbell, Cantrill, of the State campaign committee, who thanked in warmest terms the good people for their splendid efforts to make the opening memorable, said a few words of cheer to the people who crowded the amphitheater and filled every conceivable space in all the region aroundabout and introduced Congressman Hardy, of Texas, as the first speaker, who eloquently told of the accomplishments of the administration and urged the retention in office of the man who made them possible and fulfilled every promise of the convention that nominated him. His speech was logical, forceful and vote winning.

Following his address, which was listened to with rapt attention, the orator, on the feast of hickory, fried chicken, barbecued beef and lamb with many other good things, began and though the charge was heavy and continuous the impression was hardly noticeable and the heavy laden tables would have withstood the charge of several thousands more and still grown with their weight of well prepared edibles. It was a real feast from which no one went away empty.

On their own initiative and at their own expense, the ladies had prepared another feast in a large tent in honor of the vice president's charming wife where the speakers and others enjoyed a real banquet, served by beautiful girls and comely matrons and every body made to feel that it was good to be there. The tent was gaily decorated and the ensemble was beautiful.

The inner man having been satisfied, Gov. Stanley introduced the leading speaker of the day, Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, who was received with tumultuous applause, and his was a most captivating address, full of hope and confidence. Mr. Marshall is a born orator and possessing the ability to tell an anecdote well, he soon caught his audience which listened to his effort with wild cheers and applause. There are few more popular speakers than Woodrow Wilson's running mate. "The tail to his kite," as he called himself, and his eloquent recital of constructive work accomplished during the three and a half years that the Democrats had been in power, made a lasting impression on the multitude, which drunk in every word with avidity, and seemed fully to agree with him that God had raised up Woodrow Wilson for his great work.

Congressman W. J. Fields then introduced the Hon. Thomas J. Heflin of Alabama, whose fame as an orator is nation-wide, and for an hour he kept the vast throng applauding or convulsed with laughter at the stories he told so finically. It was a great speech and kept the crowd to its end, though more than half of it had to stand to hear it.

Chairman A. B. Rouse, of the speakers' bureau, could hardly have made better selection for the occasion as every man of them is master in his line of speech.

The great crowd, which came from many parts of the state and was variously estimated at from 10,000 to 20,000, enthusiastically took its leave, filled with enthusiasm and intent on doing all in its power to re-elect Wilson and Marshall for four more years of patriotic service.

There have been many grand open ings of Democratic campaigns in Kentucky, but the one at Winchester eclipsed them all and the Democracy of the state owes the people of Clark county a debt they can hardly repay. Everybody at all acquainted with the public spiritedness of those wide-awake citizens, knew that they would strive to outdo all other occasions, and gloriously did they fulfill the confidence. And to them be honor and glory now and always. They certainly emphasized the ambitious little city's place on the map and wrote her name high on the scroll of fame.

Chairman Cantrill expressed his real delight over the auspicious opening of the campaign, that must result in a famous victory for Democracy and is prouder of the county of his congressional district than ever. It was indeed a glorious day for the cause of the people and a forerunner of a victory that will surprise the nation, which has been led to think that Kentucky is a doubtful state.

The enthusiasm engendered by the glorious meeting at Winchester will spread all over Kentucky and with such candidates as Wilson and Marshall and such achievements as the Democratic party has to its credit the old commonwealth ought to be good for the Tilden majority, which was 60,000. Kentuckians recognize true worth and faithful service and all who love these qualities will vote to retain the man in office who has done so much for the cause of humanity.

Up men, and at 'em.

The President Turned The Trick

Candidate Hughes is greatly worried over the way the president succeeded in averting the railroad strike and deplores the passage of laws in advance of investigation. He is, therefore, attempting to belittle the whole business, but he will have his labor for his pains. As Grover Cleveland said on one occasion, "A condition and not a theory," confronted Mr. Wilson, and he did what the whole country applauded him for doing. The Republicans tried to embarrass the President in the matter, but, noting that the president came out more than a victor and made himself more solid with the people. The laboring people especially are slinging the praises of the man who meets every emergency manfully and successfully.

Easy to Satisfy.

The Republican State Campaign Committee proposes to be satisfied with the result of the cost of the performance in trying to make a showing for Hughes in this state, another instance of being thankful for small favors. It is doubtful if Hughes made a vote by his speech in Lexington, while it does not admit of a doubt but he lost very many. Neither his speech nor his presence was inspiring and the crowd, noting that he was evidently expected better things from the candidate of a once great party, Mr. Hughes' visit demonstrated anew and more fully that the Wilson spirit prevails in this state and that it will be given full force and effect on the 11th of November.

Has Another Think Coming.

"I cannot believe that the splendid effort which has been shown here today is a mere passing enthusiasm. I am sure it means that the people of your state realize that the success of the Republican party in national affairs will advance the welfare of the nation, their own state, and their own homes." Thus spoke Mr. Hughes at Lexington. The one hundred per cent. candidate really believes his own words he has another think coming. Kentuckians are usually polite to visitors and show them courtesy, but they do not accept as truth everything that is told them. Mr. Hughes is likewise mistaken about enthusiasm. It was not great to begin with and was entirely manufactured by the campaign committee and its hirelings. There is nothing about Mr. Hughes or his speeches to enthrall over, and he who seems to sleep over on them does so either for pay or for pretense. Kentucky generally is pretty well satisfied with conditions under Wilson and cannot be made to realize, if such a realization were possible, that return of the Republican party to power would advance their welfare. They believe that return of that party to the control of the government means a return to special privileges by the taxation of many for the benefit of the few. Nay, Mr. Hughes do not permit yourself to be fooled—Kentucky may be doubtful sometimes, but there is no doubt about her this time, she is for Wilson first, last and all times.

The Colonel Disgusted.

Authentic report is that Colonel Roosevelt is much more obsessed with the desire to defeat Wilson than the election of Hughes, which he regards as a secondary consideration. The Colonel's antipathy for Wilson is because of the fact that the president has eclipsed him in the service of the country and relegated him from the front page and from the limelight. It is also said that Roosevelt is dissatisfied with the Hughes performance in the west, that he is almost ready to quit playing second fiddle in the swarthy campaign, as he calls it. Instead of talking Americanism, he says Hughes' talks civil service reform and instead of denouncing the German American alliance, denounces extravagance in governmental expenditure. He believes he has been tricked and is almost ready to quit. The Democrats, however, will object as he is making more votes for Wilson than it is possible for him to make for Hughes.
